Type of business or sector	The Centre for Science, Society and Citizenship (CSSC) is an independent, non-partisan, research centre based in Rome (IT). CSSC' overall aim is to contribute to a better understanding of the contemporary world by clarifying the human (social, cultural and ethical) factors which shape technological innovation. CSSC was incorporated as an Ltd on 12 March 2002 and was further registered as a private research centre by the Italian Ministry of University and Research. CSSC is accredited by the Faculties of Psychology of the La Sapienza University of Rome to provide internship programs in socio-psychological research for undergraduate, graduate and PhD students. CSSC participates in the Fundamental Rights Platform of the Fundamental Rights Agency of the EU (FRA). The Centre is member of the European Association of Centers of Medical Ethics (EACME) and of the International Association of Bioethics (IAB). CSSC is member of the Italian Confederation of Education and Knowledge Companies (Assoknowledge). By taking an interdisciplinary approach, CSSC explores social, cultural and ethical implications of emerging technologies (e.g., biometrics, cloud computer, assitive technologies) in various fields (e.g., homeland security, disaster preparedness, e-health, e-Inclusion). CSSC focuses on the needs of policy makers and those who advise them. CSSC believes in the values of dialogue, responsibility, integrity and care. The centre promotes open conversation between individuals, communities and institutions by encouraging trust among all parties.

Research Career Achievements

Emilio Mordini has pioneered research on psychiatric ethics, ethics of globalization and emerging global risks, ethics of biometrics and surveillance technology.

PSYCHIATRIC ETHICS: Emilio was faculty member and partner of the Psychoanalytic Institute for Social Research where he pioneered research on ethics of psychiatry and neuroscience. In 1993 he organized with the Italian National Research Council the first European Multidisciplinary Congress on Psychiatric Ethics. In 1994 he gave a series of lectures in Paris under invitation of the French Ministry of Research (Seminar on Bioethics and Psychoanalysis) and was involved in the organisation the International Congress on Philosophy and Medicine in Paris. Emilio was also main contractor in the FP4 funded project Ethical Aspects of Coercive Supervision and Treatment of Uncooperative Psychiatric Patients in the Community, coordinated by the Maastricht Institute of Bioethics. Always in 1994 Emilio was awarded with a grant by the ELSA program of DG XII for organizing the workshop "Ethical Aspects of Brain Research" (Rome), opened by the Nobel laureate R. Levi Montalcini. In 1995 Emilio was in the organising committee of the Conference "Ethique et Recherche sur le Cerveau" organised by the French Ministry of Research, he was also key speaker in the XVI World Congress of Social Psychiatry (Rome), in the Annual Conference of the European Brain Bank Network (Barcelona), and in the Conference "Informed Consent in Psychiatry" organised by the University of Berlin. In 1996 Emilio initiated and co-chaired the First International Conference on Philosophy and Psychiatry (Malaga) organised by the Royal College of Psychiatry and was co-founder together with K.W. Fulford of the International Network on Philosophy and Psychiatry and the Association for the Advancement of Philosophy and Psychiatry. In 1997 Emilio was invited by the Italian Psychiatric Association (IPA) to deliver a key note on psychiatric ethics in the 40th Congress of the Italian Psychiatric Association (Palermo). Subsequently he was invited by the IPA to organise an the first Italian course on psychiatric ethics for IPA members. These activities were mirrored by a first rang scientific production in the field of ethics psychiatry and neuroscience. Emilio also became responsible for the psychiatric section of the Encyclopaedia of Applied Ethics published by Academic Press. In 1997 Emilio was awarded by the EC with a FP5 research contract on Ethical, Legal, and Social Aspects of Brain Research (BRAIN ELSA). In 2002 Emilio was invited to give one of the opening lectures in the X World Congress of Psychiatric Genetics (Brussels). Emilio's interested in psychiatric and psychology ethics has continued through his service in the executive council of the Association for the Advancement of Philosophy and Psychiatry, and in the board of the Electronic Journal of Mental Health, Alcohol and Drugs; the Journal of Ethics In Mental Health; and Psychomedia. In 2009 Emilio served as a co-director of the First Italian Conference on "Religiosità e Nuove Tecnologie" organised by the Italian Society of Psychology of Religion (Rome, 4 April), and chaired the International Seminar "Thinking the unthinkable: Lessons that can be learnt from the psychological responses of the victims and security personnel during the Abruzzo earthquake" supported by DG Enterprise (Grant Agreement No. 218057). Since 2008 Emilio has been serving as an external faculty member at the Public Health School at the Haifa University (IL).

ETHICS OF GLOBALISATION AND EMERGING GLOBAL RISKS: in late 1990s - through his interest in transcultural psychiatry - Emilio's scientific interest was further challenged by multiculturalism and globalisation. He was variously involved in the international conversation on globalisation, HIV epidemics and international justice. In 1996 he was awarded by the EC with a grant for organising a workshop on Ethical, Legal and Social Aspects of Vaccination and in 1998 he was appointed coordinator a 3 year FP5 research project on Ethical, Legal, and Social Aspects of Vaccine Research (EURO ELSAV). In the same year Emilio was invited by the Council of Europe to deliver a key note on ethics of vaccine research in the International Conference "Ethical issues arising from the application of biotechnology" (Oviedo, May 16-19). In the following years Emilio participated as a main contractor in two EC funded projects on ethics of HIV research in developing countries, and in 2002 he was awarded with a new research contract for coordinating a 4 year research on Bioethical Implications of Globalization Processes (BIG). In this period Emilio published extensively on ethics, ethnicity, epidemics and globalisation, and he was invited to serve as a member of the editorial committee of the Dictionary of Race and Ethnicity published by Sage in 2001. In 2002 Emilio founded the Centre for Science, Society and Citizenship (CSSC). Early CSSC's activities focused on ethics of global mobility, emerging threats, natural and provoked epidemics. In this period Emilio lectured on ethics of emerging risks (Rome, Paris, Brussels) and he was invited by the Chinese Centre for Disease Control as a key note speaker in the "International Workshop on Influenza Pandemic Preparedness and Control" (International Risk Governance Council, Beijing, 2006). He also served in the Advisory Board of the International Conference on Ethics, Research and Globalisation (European Commission Research DG, Brussels, 2006). In 2008 Emilio was invited to deliver a key note in the Interministerial conference "e-Health without frontiers" organised by the Slovenian Presidency of the EU (Portoroz, 6-8 May); in the same year he was also invited to deliver a key note in Paris, in the international conference "Ethical Issues in European National Preparedness for Pandemic Influenza" (Paris, 20-21 November). Since 2008 he has also been serving in the International Advisory Board of Center for Public Health Security at the Haifa University (IL). In 2009 Emilio was eventually invited as a main speaker in the Public Health Seminar devoted to flu pandemics, organised in Padova by the Fondazione Lanza (18 Dec). Always in 2009 Emilio was awarded by the NATO Science for Peace Program for organising a NATO ARW on Internet-based intelligence for public health emergencies and disease outbreak: technical, medical, and regulatory issues (HSD 984009 - ARW Application).

ETHICS OF BIOMETRICS AND SURVEILLANCE TECHNOLOGY: research on ethics of global mobility, bioterrorism, and emerging threats led Emilio to the vast area of surveillance technologies and their ethical, policy and privacy implications. He pioneered research in the field of ethics of biometrics and in 2004 he launched the EC funded project Biometric Identification Ethics (BITE). Emilio also initiated two international conferences (in Brussels and Washington DC) on ethics and biometrics convened by the EC DG Research and the US Dept of Homeland Security. From 2004 till today, Emilio has been deeply involved in international conversation on policy and ethics of surveillance technology and biometrics. In 2006 he organised a NATO Advanced Workshop on Identity, Security and Democracy (Jerusalem) and in 2008 he was awarded with a FP7 grant to coordinate a three year research project on Homeland security, biometric identification & personal detection ethics (HIDE). In 2009 he was then appointed as a coordinator of a FP7 project on policy aspects of security technologies, say, Rising pan-European and international Awareness of Biometrics and Security Ethics (RISE). In the scope of the RISE project Emilio supported the organization of the Third International Conference of Ethics of Biometrics (Hong Kong, Jan 4-5, 2010). Since 2008 Emilio has been also invited to serve as a member of the ENISA (European Network and Information Security Agency) Stakeholder Forum on Emerging and Future Risks; and since 2009 he has been chairing the biometric sector of the Italian Association of Knowledge Companies (Assoknowledge). Currently Emilio serves in various international committees and working parties devoted to surveillance technologies and biometrics. He chairs the IAB Network EAST (Ethical Aspects of Surveillance Technologies); seats in the European Committee for Standardization (CEN) ICT Focus Group on Biometrics., serves in the IBAC, International Biometric Advisory Committee. Emilio leads the ethical and legal workpackage in BEST, the Biometric European Stakeholder Network, funded by the EC (GA 238955) in the scope of the ICT PSP programme, which gathers 35 leading European institutions in the biometric sector.

RESEARCH CONTRACTS AWARDED

Since 1997 Emilio Mordini has matured an extensive experience in coordinating and leading international and multidisciplinary teams. The context of working in large European framework programs, gave him the chance to develop the suitable sensitivity to innovate without neglecting already existing concepts, solutions and values. Since 1997 Emilio Mordini has won eight research contracts as a project coordinator in FP4, 5, 6 and 7; twelve contracts as project partner in FP4, 5, 6, and 7.
